On November 29th November after school there is an evening to help Year 11s make progress.

Last year we ran a help session for Year 11s giving advice on how to succeed . About ten 6th Form students helped with the workshop and then some more helped at the front of school showing parents where to go etc.

Please could you let Mrs Livings know if you can help- it is a chance to help others and will look great on CVs and personal statements

Absent Teachers

If your teacher is absent from your lesson they will always try to organise and leave work (where possible) for you. The cover team will attempt to cover these lessons so you should always come into school. The cover work will also be displayed in the common room just above Archie's tank

SQUID ACCOUNTS

Although you don't need a Squid Account to buy food in the common room, you will still need to be able to access this to pay for books, trips etc. Please do not cancel your accounts

Please be aware of how much time you are spending on your mobile phones, we do understand that these are mini computers and that you do use them to help you with your studies. However, it can be so easy to spend an hour of study time texting and checking social media websites, instead of studying.

Remember, if it's a lesson time, you shouldn't be on your phones. Please be discreet with your phones when not in lessons as the rest of school aren't allowed them out.

Wednesday Night Accelerating Progress Sessions:

School Nurse

The school nurse and is available every Wednesday lunchtime, to offer confidential advice and support.

Be: 'Ready to Learn'

Teachers will normally set you work that involves preparing for the next lesson, such as reading through the next topic and making notes on the content of the forthcoming lesson. If you fail to do this you will not be ready to learn and your progress, given the amount of sheer content at A Level, will be seriously affected. Please be, 'Ready to Learn'.

Careers Interviews

If you are at all unsure about what you are thinking of doing after the sixth form it might be a good idea to arrange an interview with our careers advisor – Mrs Taylor from Ideas for Careers (see Mrs Booth who can set you up with an appointment). Mrs Taylor is very knowledgeable about apprenticeships if this is something you are interested in pursuing. Alternatively, she is available for a general chat about the next stage after sixth form. Year12s are welcome to make appointments as well as Year 13s.

Year 12s – Community Service

Events and Opportunities: please look through these carefully-there are lots of new ones this week

OPPORTUNITY FOR YEAR 12 STUDENTS INTERESTED IN STUDYING LAW AT UNIVERSITY

The Cambridge Sixth Form Law Conference is an access program for students in Year 12 which is held at Cambridge University. Each year, 250 Year 12 students spend four days in the city, living in the colleges and attending a series of mini-lectures and social events. The aim of the Conference is to give those who attend a flavour of what life as a Law undergraduate is like. We have social events in the Union and even a Mock Trial which is often the highlight of the delegates week! We also have talks from law firms, a solicitor, a barrister and a High Court judge to show where a degree in Law could lead you! The aim is for the week to be both informative and fun!

If you are not convinced that you want to study Law, or that you want to apply to Cambridge, please do consider applying anyway! The Conference doesn't try to hard-sell Law or the University but can play a vital role in dismantling some of the stereotypes surround what it is to be a Cambridge student.

A past delegate said of the Conference "I have very little family history of University association, and attended a state school in Nottinghamshire with a virtually inexistent history of sending students to Oxbridge. I believed the stereotypes of Cambridge being for the rich and the elite, but attending the Conference and spending a number of days around current Cambridge students and academics was crucial to breaking down the stereotypes surrounding the University. Cambridge may have its history and traditions but - much to my surprise at the time - its students are normal people, from normal backgrounds, who enjoy doing normal things."

We are delighted to announce that we have 55 fully-funded places on the Conference this year, after the success of our funding scheme last year. This funding can be applied for via the ordinary application process which can be accessed via the website. This funding covers the cost of the Conference, including accommodation, social events, and all meals. Cambridge Admissions Office will determine who, of the applicants who have applied for funding, are most in need of financial support and will guide us in allocating the places. If you have any questions please email Emma Kemsley-Pein at president@cambridgesixthformlawconference.com or Ben King at slo@cambridgesixthformlawconference.com!

A MESSAGE FROM KPMG STUDENT RECRUITMENT

KPMG Apprenticeship Schemes are a great place for your students to start their career.

Why does a firm like KPMG recruit apprentices?

Quite simply, because they are our future. Research shows that in classrooms across the UK more talented students, like yours, are considering starting a career straight after their A-Levels or Scottish Highers, rather than following the traditional university route. We think that your students have just as much potential to succeed at KPMG as our graduate trainees - our entry-routes reflect this belief.

KPMG's Apprenticeship Programmes offer plenty of support for your students at every step of the application process too - from making that initial decision to knowing what to bring along on the first day. As well as your students having their tuition paid for, they'll also earn while they learn.

Remembrance Sunday: Queen watches Whitehall service from balcony for first time as Prince Charles lays her wreath

Prince Charles leads

Remembrance Sunday service as Queen watches from balcony

The Prince of Wales has led the nation in honouring the country's war dead on Remembrance Sunday, as the Queen observed the service from a balcony.

The Queen asked Charles to lay her wreath at the Cenotaph, in the first time the monarch has broken with tradition and not performed the symbolic duty while in attendance at the Whitehall service.

A two-minute silence took place at 11am and wreaths were laid at the foot of the Whitehall memorial by senior royals and political leaders including Prime Minister Theresa May and Labour leader Jeremy Corbyn.

The Duke of Edinburgh, Queen and Duchess of Cornwall watch the Cenotaph ceremony

The Queen and Duke of Edinburgh watched the service from a Foreign and Commonwealth Office balcony, along with the Duchess of Cornwall.

The Duchess of Cambridge, Countess of Wessex and Princess Alexandra watched from a second balcony, looking on in sombre contemplation.

For Royal-watchers, the Cenotaph ceremony will have been a significant moment, as the heir to the throne represents his mother in one of the key public duties of the year.

Announcing the decision last month, Buckingham Palace said the Queen wished to be by her husband's side on the balcony and had asked the Prince to lay a wreath instead .

The Duke's equerry laid his wreath, before the Prince laid his own wreath, his second of the day.

The Duke of Cambridge, Prince Harry, the Duke of York lay their own wreaths together, followed by the Earl of Wessex, the Princess Royal and the Duke of Kent.

Other political figures laying wreaths included Foreign Secretary Boris Johnson, Liberal Democrats leader Vince Cable, and Commons Speaker John Bercow.

Joining the Queen in observing the service from Foreign Office balconies were the Duchess of Cambridge, the Duchess of Cornwall, the Countess of Wessex, Princess Alexandra, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester and Vice Admiral Sir Timothy Laurence.

The firing of a gun marked the end of the silence, and The Last Post was sounded by the Buglers of the Royal Marines before the wreaths were laid.

Thoughts for the week

*They shall grow not old, as we that are left grow old:
Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn.
At the going down of the sun and in the morning
We will remember them.*
